

Intensive Reading Support

A short term reading intervention for pupils in Years 1 to 6 who are working below age-related expectations

This training will enable staff to deliver a one-to-one intervention programme, to help children develop independent reading and comprehension skills so that they can make accelerated progress and catch up with their peers.

A 10 week programme, 15 minutes a day, three times per week that aims to help children read with pace and fluency, develop independent problem solving strategies and read more confidently with understanding and enjoyment.

This training is suitable for SENCOs, class teachers, teaching assistants, governors and reading support volunteers. It is also beneficial for teachers responsible for interventions in school.

The day will include opportunities to:

- Understand the reading process
- Develop observational skills and the use of prompts and specific praise
- Take and analyse a Running Record
- Consider effective questioning to help develop children's understanding
- Consider next steps for struggling readers
- Discuss and reflect on your own practice to enhance the teaching of reading within the wider context of your own school reading curriculum
- Discuss whole school initiatives to motivate readers

"By the time pupils leave in Year 6, they have a real love of books. They have frequent opportunities to read a variety of different texts – both books and digital text – which enables them to find out things for themselves or just enjoy a book for pleasure. The strong focus on reading is a significant reason why pupils' written work is of such high quality."
