Grants to help with Community Care during coronavirus

Samaritan's Purse is preparing to respond across the UK in partnership with the Church through a new initiative: 'This is Love.'

"The goal of this new programme is to help support, as many people as possible who are suffering from the direct and indirect effects of the coronavirus pandemic with physical, emotional and spiritual relief in partnership with the local church.

"Churches and Christian projects with a desire to serve their communities through 'Good Samaritan' activities like foodbanks, care for the elderly and infirm, those with special needs or mental health issues can apply for support via:

- Community Care Grants of £1000, £3000 and £5,000 grants to keep your work going or get a new project off of the ground. Be it something your church is running itself or providing support to meet existing need in places such as care homes or mental health facilities, we are here to help
- One of 600 Community Care Kits that are stocked with personal protection equipment (PPE) for essential religious workers, the vulnerable and those conducting community ministry. Each kit will include disposable FFP1 and FFP2 face masks, disposable nitrile & latex gloves, and alcohol-based hand sanitiser."
